Navigating the New Child Abuse/Mandated Reporter Training Laws

Speaker: Gilbert Castro, Esq.
Atkinson, Andelson, Loya, Ruud & Romo

On January 1, 2015, AB 1432 went into effect. This new law requires that public school districts train all employees in child abuse/mandated reporter requirements. This interactive briefing provides district and school-site administrators and staff with the legal and practical information they need to ensure compliance with these new mandatory child abuse reporting and training laws. We will nail down exactly what this new law requires, how it will immediately affect districts, and best practices for compliance. This session also breaks down the what, when, where and how of child abuse reporting, and how to avoid costly and tragic mistakes when faced with suspected child abuse. Tailored to K-12 districts, community college districts, and county offices of education, we will give you the tools you need to make sure that both your students, and your mandated reporters, are protected.

Who Should Attend?

- Superintendents
- Deputy Superintendents
- Directors
- Assistant Superintendents
- Board Members
- HR Representatives

Atkinson, Andelson, Loya, Ruud & Romo has successfully represented schools, community college districts, and county offices of education for over 35 years.
