Five AALRR Attorneys Recognized as Rising Stars by Super Lawyers National Rating Service

CERRITOS, Calif. —Atkinson, Andelson, Loya, Ruud & Romo (AALRR) is pleased to announce that five firm attorneys have been included on the list of 2015 Southern California Rising Stars, as issued by Super Lawyers, a national rating service of exceptional lawyers from more than 70 practice areas. The recognition honors exceptional Southern California attorneys who are 40 years old or younger, or who have been practicing for 10 years or less.

The recognition includes Irvine-based partner, Anthony P. De Marco, of the firm's Southern California education law labor and employment practice, who is a Rising Star designee for the sixth consecutive year. Additionally, four other attorneys from the firm's Cerritos and Riverside offices were named to the list: Carlos M. Gonzalez, of the firm's special education practice, Stephen M. McLoughlin, of the firm's facilities, construction and property practice, and Brooke E. Jimenez and Jabari A. Willis of the Southern California education law labor and employment practice.

"Having our attorneys make the list again this year is truly an honor for the entire firm. Each of the recognized attorneys is quickly earning a reputation as a leader in their respective practice area." says AALRR Managing Partner James C. Romo.

The California Rising Star honor is awarded to no more than 2.5 percent of the lawyers practicing in the state. This multi-step process includes independent research and peer assessment and appraisal. The results will be published in the July 2015 issues of Los Angeles magazine and Super Lawyers magazine.
