Atkinson, Andelson, Loya, Ruud & Romo Launches Mobile App for the Education Law Technology Conference

Cerritos, Calif. — Atkinson, Andelson, Loya, Ruud & Romo (“AALRR”) is excited to launch its downloadable mobile app for the 2014 Education Law Technology Conference. The mobile app will elevate an attendee’s experience at this year’s Conference. Using their mobile devices, attendees will be able to see more information, participate in more activities, and ultimately get more value out of the event.

Features of the app include:

- Access to the full event schedule, sorted by location, time, speaker, and/or session.
- Look up additional information about the presenters.
- View handouts from each session.
- Receive notifications about breaking news and events.

When connected to the internet, the app downloads updates (such as schedule or room changes). Once downloaded, all of the data is stored locally on the device and is accessible even when the user is outside of Wi-Fi coverage.

The 2014 Education Law Technology Conference will take place September 19th at the Cerritos Sheraton, September 22nd at the San Diego County Office of Education, and September 25th at the Modesto DoubleTree by Hilton.
