New Legislation Targets Law Enforcement

*Senate Bill 1421 and Assembly Bill 748
Completely Reshape the Law
Regarding Disclosure of Peace Officers' Personnel Files*

Governor Brown recently signed two pieces of legislation that completely change the confidential status of peace officer personnel files.

SB1421 requires the release of certain peace officer personnel files pursuant to a California Public Records Act ("CPRA") request. This includes all records relating to officer involved shootings, use of force that results in death or great bodily injury, and sustained findings of sexual assault and dishonesty.

AB748 requires the release of video and audio recordings of critical incidents pursuant to a CPRA request.

Join us for a complimentary briefing on how these changes will impact your agency, and how to prepare for the onslaught of CPRA requests your agency will soon be facing.

The briefings will be presented by our legal law enforcement team members:

Nate Kowalski • Alfonso Estrada • Sarah Martoccia.
