For over 30 years, AALRR has been extensively involved in all aspects of public and private facilities, construction, real estate, and business matters throughout California. We are involved in many construction-related organizations throughout the state. Our firm provides full construction-related services from preparing and negotiating contract documents, bidding, and construction administration, to handling claims and litigation. Details regarding our firm’s scope of services and representation related to public works projects include contract and bid documents, CEQA, construction administration and litigation, and more. Additionally, we provide transactional and litigation support for all aspects of real estate, environmental, business, and election matters.
