At AALRR, we understand that litigation is not your business, but a cost that comes with doing business. Our attorneys represent clients throughout all stages of litigation, including: drafting and filing initial complaints or responsive pleadings, preparing and responding to discovery, conducting factual investigations, preparing witnesses and defending depositions, retaining and deposing expert witnesses, preparing summary judgment motions, trial preparation, appeals and other post-judgment issues. Our attorneys have considerable experience successfully representing clients in mediation, arbitration, and before dispute review boards, and have routinely taken on and defeated the country’s largest and best-known law firms.
