MANUFACTURING

AALRR is a proven leader in the manufacturing sector, as evidenced by our numerous awards and accolades from industry organizations, in addition to our many client success stories. Our labor, employment, and business transaction attorneys work closely with our manufacturing clients and are knowledge leaders in their fields. They translate their years of experience to every company we serve.

Manufacturing is an expansive field—and over the last four decades, we have handled a wide range of cases and other matters that have given us an unmatched depth of knowledge. We regularly obtain successful settlements prior to litigation—but have a deep bench of top litigators to take a case through trial when needed.

Our full suite of services includes providing regular counsel to food manufacturers, steel manufacturers, electrical manufacturers, automobile parts manufacturers and many more in the manufacturing sector. This includes compliance with equal employment and opportunity laws; contract review and preparation, including licensing, distribution, and supply agreements and vendor agreements; management training; intellectual property matters; corporate governance and general corporate services; and other areas. Our attorneys are prepared to help you to and through even the toughest manufacturing cases.
